BY HOUSE COMMITTEE ON MARKETING PROVIDES FOR LOCAL AND STATE MARKETS

(By United Press)

St. Paul, Jan. 7.—Unanimous endorsement of one of the big co-operative marketing bills to be offered at this session of the legislature, was made today by the house committee on marketing. The bill provides for a local, state and federal co-operative marketing organization, amending the present co-operative law passed two years ago.

Under its provision the local organization, to be owned by individual stockholders, forms the first phase of the action. Then the local forming a state organization, stock to be owned by the local not by individuals.

The measure also contemplates a nation-wide co-operative plan as it allows the state body to join the state organization and hold stock therein.

The bill, as approved by the committee, is in line by recommendations made by Gov. Preus in his inaugural address. It is approved also by the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation.

The "invaders" were ordered to move on immediately upon their arrival by a citizens committee headed by American Legion men, but later were allowed to remain pending arrival of their agent from California.

RAILROAD REPORTS SHOW BIG TONNAGE INCREASE THIS YEAR

(United Press)

Washington, Jan. 7.—Industrial achievement, the long waited post-war momentum, was indicated today in railroad reports to the interstate commerce commission following the review of traffic volume for the first nine months of 1920. Railroad reports are regarded as one of the best business barometers.

Tremendous increases were shown by reports in freight tonnage, freight revenue and revenue per tonnage mile as compared with preceding years.

American Aviators On Homeward Stretch

JAMES KELLY

(Copyright 1921 by the United Press) Mattice, Ont., Jan. 7.—The three American navy balloonists, returning from a record breaking air trip to the north, were believed today to be on the homeward stretch in their dash by dog team from Moose Factory to Mattice, where they will entrain for home.

The aviators will be met by a detachment of Royal Canadian Mounted Police. The police sergeant has arrived, ready to extend praise in the name of the Dominion, and the services of himself and the whole mounted squad at Halleybury. Incidentally the sergeant must report to Ottawa that a "foreign" air craft arrived in Canada without permission. This however is merely formality.

'Dairy' Raided; 'Milk' Has 'Kick' of 20 Cows

Chicago, Jan. 7.—A raid on a cowless dairy on the outskirts of the city resulted in the arrest of the owner and the seizure of a dozen regulation milk cans, the contents of which, according to members of the posse, was liquor. "It was not cow's milk at all," said Deputy Sheriff Griffin. "It was potato milk and it packed a kick like 20 muley cows. We found the still and some potato mash in the shed where the cows should have been." Tony Lucas was arrested and the people on his delivery route today waited in vain for their "milk."

PROMINENT ILL. MAN ELOPES WITH MADISON WOMAN

HER HUSBAND SAYS SHE WAS TAKEN FROM HIS HOME AT POINT OF GUN

(By United Press)

Chicago, Jan. 7.—The eternal triangle became a parallelogram today when the police of a nation were asked to search for Pierre Paul Auther, of Chicago, and Mrs. Charlotte Franzen, of Madison, Wis., both having been missing from their respective homes for several days.

Detectives were first called in to untangle the latest entanglement of alliance by Mrs. Auther, who suspected that her husband, a descendent of a noble Spanish family, a war hero and globe-trotter, had eloped with "one of the other women."

Telltale letters to Auther from Mrs. Franzen were unearthed by the wife and delivered to the police. Mrs. Auther followed this by obtaining a warrant charging Auther with abandonment. Philip N. Franzen was a decorator for the University of Wisconsin. Next he swore out a warrant charging Auther with grand larceny. He said Auther appeared at his home and at the point of a gun stole Mrs. Franzen after first forcing him to write out a check for $100.

Franzen said Auther spoke the following words as Mrs. Franzen and Auther were leaving:

"This woman is Charlotte Devoy, my lawful wife, whom I married in Australia 13 years ago. I have searched for her for ten years and now I mean to have her."

Mrs. Auther, at her home with a baby and two dollars, said her husband had not been married before. "He has been everywhere but in Australia," she said. Madison police said Mrs. Franzen deserted two children. A will found among Auther's papers, advised his wife to marry the day after his death.

NEW CONGRESSMAN FOR STATE SLATED

MINNESOTA WOULD GAIN ONE BY MEASURE REPORTED OUT BY COMMITTEE

Washington, Jan. 7.—The house census committee agreed today to report to congress the Siegel bill fixing the membership of the house at 483, an increase of 48 over the present membership. It also recommended a constitutional amendment limiting the membership of future houses to 500.

The basis for reapportionment was fixed at one member for every 218,979 inhabitants. Under this bill the states would gain as follows:

Alabama, 1; Arkansas, 1; California, 5; Connecticut, 1; Georgia, 1; Illinois, 3; Maryland, 1; Massachusetts, 2; Michigan, 4; Minnesota, 1; New Jersey, 2; New Mexico, 1; New York, 4; North Carolina, 2; Ohio, 4; Oklahoma, 1; Oregon, 1; Pennsylvania, 4; South Carolina, 1; Tennessee, 1; Texas, 3; Virginia, 1; Washington, 1; West Virginia, 1, and Wisconsin, 1.

No state would lose any representation.

Other northwest states would have representation as follows:

Sen. Penrose Losing Dominant Position Think His Enemies

Washington, Jan. 7.—Political enemies and critics of Senator Penrose today were busily spreading word that Penrose's change of position on the emergency tariff bill had marked the beginning of the end for him as a dominant power in Pennsylvania and national politics.

Aside from his illness which has robbed Senator Penrose of his former stamina, his foes declare nothing has so helped his passing as abandonment of his fight on the emergency tariff bill. They were ready to magnify his action into this importance by reason of the emphasis he placed on opposition to this measure when it first came up and again when sent to the senate.

His inability to "handle the situation" was borne in on Penrose, it was declared, by the obstinate attitude of republican colleagues of the committee, who are said to have told him they would risk division in the party ranks on the very eve of the new administration in order to get the bill passed. Penrose's friends said they realize that his physical condition would not allow him to make the fight for his position and he backed down rather than be defeated.

TWO HEAVY SUIT CASES TIP POLICE TO ROBBERY

CONTAIN JEWELRY STOLEN FROM DASSEL, MINN., JEWELRY STORE

(United Press)

Minneapolis, Jan. 7.—Two flashy new suit cases which appeared to be heavily loaded, tipped off a Dassel, Minn., jewelry store robbery to Minneapolis police late last night.

When Wm. Sweeney and Frank Larson, shabbily attired, stepped from a bus at Eleventh street and Hennepin avenue, John Albrecht, police sergeant, and E. Jonassen, detective sergeant, were standing nearby. "What do you suppose those birds have caught?" said Albrecht. "Don't know, let's find out," replied Jonassen.

The two suit cases were filled with jewelry and trinkets. The police notified the Dassel store. The men were held for further investigation.

ST. LOUIS EDITOR DISAPPEARS IN CHICAGO

(United Press)

Chicago, Jan. 7.—A nation-wide hunt was on today for Jacques Villard, 38, cripple and owner and editor of the "New Age" and of a correspondence school in St. Louis. Villard, who is legless, disappeared here Christmas night. He was last seen being carried from a hotel by a tall blonde man, believed to be either a Swede or Pole.

According to police Villard came here Dec. 10 in search of an assistant editor. He interviewed a number of Poles and contemplated a course in Americanization for Polish people. Failing to obtain the men he wanted he sent Mrs. Villard back to St. Louis and he was going to New York. He was said to have two thousand dollars in cash and four thousand dollars in jewelry when last seen.

VIENNA DYING RAPIDLY

BY LLOYD ALLEN

(United Press Staff Correspondent) Vienna, Jan. 7.—In Vienna you never see a cat or dog. They disappeared more than a year ago; eaten by the starving population.

The cats and dogs would have starved to death anyway, the Viennese will tell you—elimination of pets was good economy.

Today there are thousands in this town that have not eaten meat of any kind for many months. It's too expensive; even horse meat is beyond the purse of any except the well-to-do.

Vienna is a city of about 2,000,000 cut off from the food of the surrounding Austrian provinces because the Austrian money is valueless. Why should a farmer sell his scanty stocks of eggs and grain for paper currency that is worthless. It will not buy warm clothing, hosiery and so forth, except for outrageous prices. Today an outfit of clothing for an ordinary family costs 30,000 kronen. At the nominal value of the kronen, that means $6,000 in American money.

Nobody but the ultra-rich can live in ordinary comfort in Vienna. The professional people—doctors, lawyers, musicians, are worse off than the day laborers, because salaries have not advanced in keeping with the advance of wages.

Literally, Vienna is dying rapidly. Once a flourishing industrial city—largest in the Austro-Hungarian monarchy—it is today a town of smokeless chimneys and stunned, starving people.

The cost of living for a family of four, as worked out in a careful estimate, shows 5,000 kronen as the requirement for one month. This would mean from $8 to $10, according to the present value of the kronen.

The income of most families is under 2,000 kronen per month, so that it only half meets the cost of expenses for food and lodging, much less buying clothing.

The death rate of 15.4 per thousand is the highest for any city in Europe, while the birth rate for the same period was 12.7 per thousand, so that the deaths are more numerous than the births.

On December first, the government tried a last desperate venture to feed the people. A huge system of food distribution was inaugurated, subsidized with a government contribution of $1,500,000,000 kronen monthly. But the system failed miserably, because even with this government help, prices are too high for the people. One pound of lard sells for 100 kronen; six pounds of rice now sells for 200 kronen, while in the old days the same amount of rice brought one kronen.

These figures explain why fifteen out of every hundred babies die soon after birth.

Physicians estimate ninety percent of all Vienna children are afflicted with tuberculosis. The extreme cases of this dread disease effect the flesh and bones instead of the lungs and can only be cured by long, tedious and expensive treatment.

Many nations are trying to help Vienna with charitable gifts; especially England and America. But the surrounding states, Czech-Slovakia, Poland, Serbia, Roumania and Serbia are unwilling to lift a finger to help the stricken dying capital.

Americans are feeding more than 300,000 boys and girls in all of Austria every day. A Swedish committee known as the "Redda Baren" feeds and clothes thousands of children of all ages. The American Joint Distribution Committee maintains Jewish children. But nothing is being done for babies and young mothers, or for children over 14 years of age.

Hitherto 140,000 children of Vienna were taken to Italy, Switzerland, Holland, or Denmark for several months, where they were adopted into homes. News has just reached Vienna that the last three named countries will discontinue sheltering the starvelings. The dazed Viennese are at a loss to know why this charity has been stopped. It is said "politics" is very possibly the cause.

Meanwhile there is just enough food inside the country to last three weeks. But the people have long since ceased to thrill at such a situation. There's never any more food in Austria during the winter months, for which every Austrian blames the Treaty of St. Germain, and then thanks heaven for the American food shipments that have kept the country alive since the great war ended.

They know American aid can't continue forever; and are wondering, dully, what the next awful chapter is going to be.

KERENSKY WILL ATTEMPT TO UNITE ANTI-BOLSHEVIKS

CALLS MEETING OF REVOLUTIONARY LEADERS IN PARIS FOR THAT PURPOSE

(United Press)

Paris, Jan. 7.—Alexander Kerensky, former Russian premier, has summoned thirty revolutionary leaders to meet here tomorrow and attempt to unite all anti-bolshevik factions.

M. Tchernooff, minister of agriculture under the Kerensky provisional government, and former president of the revolutionary constituent assembly, will preside over the meeting. Tchernooff escaped from Russia two months ago. It was believed he will tell the delegates what their chances of military success will be if Kerensky and General Wrangle can be united.

Delegates to the conference include members of the social revolutionary party under the provisional government and the cadets.

Dispatches today bearing on the Russian-Polish futures tend to confirm rumors here that were formerly denied that President Pludski expects to form a military alliance with France.

SEES EVIDENCE IRISH LEADERS DESIRE PEACE

By CHAS. McCANN

(Copyright 1920 by United Press.) Dublin, Jan. 7.—Evidences of an inclination to achieve peace with Great Britain leaked out from Irish leaders today.

The "left wing" of the Sinn Fein is demanding a fight to the finish. Other factions are beginning to realize that the government can meet terror with terror, and with the resources of the empire crush the impoverished island.

Few signs of mutual trust can be discerned. Sinn Feiners believe Great Britain wants to crush the nationalist spirit once and for all. British officials are demanding that only Irish leaders of guaranteed power will negotiate with them.

"President" DeValera is hiding in Dublin. "Vice President" Griffith is confined in the Mount Joy prison in Dublin, but receives visitors. Michael Collins, popularly supposed to be commander in chief of republican forces, is almost daily in Dublin streets riding the trams, watching the activities of the military, who could share in a reward of ten thousand pounds for his capture.

These paradoxes are reflected in the daily life of the Irish in their round about negotiations with Britain. Dublin has escaped much of the grief that visited other sections of the north and about Cork.

WOMAN'S LOVE DEMANDS ALL

Can Never Be Satisfied With Anything Less Than Absolute Dominion Over One Man.

What every woman wants more than anything else in the world is absolute dominion over one man. There is a peculiarly vampish trend in feminine love which takes the form of demanding entire possession of the creature upon whom the affections have been fastened.

Every woman wants to feel that no matter what his occupation—be it the most engrossing business or merely a game of golf—she is ever the compelling note at the back of her man's head. He must not forget her for a single instant, and he must be regretfully conscious that nothing is quite satisfactory, lacking the saving grace of her presence. And she requires continually to be assured of this. She believes that in hoarding her perpetual recollection he holds a talisman rendering him immune from the attractions or blandishments of all other women.

It is difficult for the feminine mentality to grasp the curious power of detachment of the masculine. A woman cannot comprehend much less sympathize with, that trait by which a man can divest himself completely of any thought of her while absorbed in something else.

A man's mind—and this particularly refers to the man of many serious interests—is like a number of compartments, each sealed from the other and docketed as to contents. While he is in one, he shuts out everything pertaining to any other.

A woman has not this capability of detachment. Whether she is playing bridge or apparently obsessed with some knotty domestic detail, she is always subconsciously aware of the one.

The retentive quality is the prevailing characteristic of woman. It is at once her greatest strength and her greatest weakness—she cannot bear to let go. If she sees the flame of a love on the wane she tries frantically to restore it to its full force. A man faced with the same contingency is apt to be more resigned—or brutal—and makes haste to finish completely the cooling affection.

A man likes to do a thing, have done with it, and consign all memory to oblivion—to wipe the slate clean and be ready for something new.—May Isabel Fisk in the Continental Edition of the London Daily Mail.

DECISION GIVEN IN SCHOOL BOARD CASE

Judge W. S. McClenahan Dismisses
Appeal Brought by Consolidated
District No. 41

ACTION COUNTY BOARD PROPER

Latter on Rehearing Set Apart Dist.
67 from 41 and Rescinded
Its Former Action

In the case of the appeal of Consolidated School District No. 41, of Crow Wing county, from an order of the county board of this county, the court, Hon. W. S. McClenahan of the district court, held in effect that the action of the county commissioners in giving a re-hearing on the controversy and detaching district 67 from consolidated district 41 was proper; and that the appeal as brought by officers of the board of 41 had no warrant in such officers assuming such action without authorization of the school board.

M. E. Ryan appeared for Pequot district No. 41 and will appeal the case, and a transcript is now being prepared by Court Reporter Egan. Attorneys for district No. 67 were F. E. Ebner and Swanson & Swanson.

A history of the case follows in the decision of Judge McClenahan, which states in part that in June 1919 the school board of consolidated school district No. 41 petitioned the county board to set off and make a part of such school district certain lands adjacent thereto, including all the lands embraced in school district 67; a notice for a hearing was ordered by the county board and hearing set for July 14, 1919. On that date the county board granted the petition. No appeal was taken from this order.

On April 3, 1920 a petition was filed with the same county board for a reconsideration or rehearing by that body of its order of June 14, 1919, hearing set for June 5, 1920, and thereupon territory embraced in such district No. 67 was ordered detached from such district No. 41 and "formed into a separate district to be known as District No. 67."

On June 28, 1920, a notice of appeal from this order to the court was served on the county auditor. This notice of appeal was signed "Consolidated School District No. 41 by F. G. Schrader, its Chairman," but no action authorizing such appeal was ever taken or had by such consolidated district, as such, or by the school board thereof, as such.

Counsel for respondents announced that they appeared specially and objected to the jurisdiction and moved to dismiss the appeal, upon the grounds, among others, in substance, that no statutory right to appeal in the premises existed; that, if such right did exist, the appellant did not possess it, and, that, in any event, no authority to take this appeal had ever been given by School District No. 41, as such.

At the close of his decision Judge McClenahan states that "I have found the fact to be that the appeal in the present case was not authorized by either the school district or the school board, and the record supports that finding. It is difficult to understand on what theory an individual member of a school board, without some official sanction, could commit the district to such an important step as was here taken. I can conceive of none."

"If no appeal lies from an order made on a rehearing such as was here had, the motion to dismiss must be granted. If such an appeal does lie, but not in favor of a school district, as such, the same result must follow, and, if an appeal lies in such case and may be taken by a school district, as such, still, the lack of official authorization by the school district or its board in this instance is fatal to the appeal. It is therefore ordered, that the motion to dismiss the appeal herein be, and it hereby is, granted."

At Death's Door

"I was talking with my neighbor, Mr. Webb, the other day, regarding the great trouble his stomach had given him. He said he suffered 7 or 8 years, and had been almost at death's door a number of times from acute indigestion and bloating of gas, which seemed to shut off his heart action. He said he wouldn't have lived much longer if he hadn't taken Mayr's Wonderful Remedy when he did, which made a well man of him." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Johnson's Pharmacy and druggists everywhere.

GAME POSTPONED

Brainerd to Play Crosby-Ironton High
Next Tuesday and Not Tonight

The Crosby-Ironton high basketballers have cancelled the game with the Brainerd High quint scheduled for this evening at Crosby and postponed it to next Tuesday. This act gives the locals the benefit of the deal in more ways than one. With the scrimmage this afternoon with the seconds, ends the strenuous vacation practice. A light signal practice Monday devoted to the improvement of the passing game and a drill at short shots will put on the finishing touches making the team in condition to take the floor in excellent early season form.

The greatest weakness to develop in the Aitkin game of a few weeks ago was the inability to cage the ball from short shots, but this fault has been overcome and Tuesday it will be merely a matter of getting the ball down the floor. Crosby has the advantage of a large floor.

Erickson and Welsh will most likely start at forwards. A good man has been found in R. Engbretson, and there is little doubt that his speed, shooting ability and smooth co-ordination with the teamwork will assure him a chance in the game. Those still nursing a bad knee but will probably start at guard along with Sheffo. Lagerquist will probably hold down the pivotal position. Owning to illness, Hendrickson, guard, will not participate in the game. With this lineup representing Brainerd high, Crosby will find a harder game than what they probably expect. Next Friday the locals journey to Staples where they meet the Staples high quint.

GOVERNMENTAL ECONOMY

Ever since Senator Aldrich made his memorable statement that $300,000,000 a year might be saved by the government out of a total expenditure of less than $1,000,000,000, by re-organizing governmental departments and methods, the public has been expecting a general overhauling by congress. The demand has grown stronger with the great increase of expenditure caused by the war. But always hope has been deferred.

Congress now promises action. A unanimous resolution has been adopted for the appointment of a joint committee of six to go over the governmental machinery and formulate plans for eliminating duplication of work, discontinuing overlapping bureaus and commissions and reducing administrative and legislative costs generally. Representative Reavis of Nebraska, who will head the committee, says he is convinced it will be possible to save the nation $1,000,000,000 a year.

The inquiry may take as much as two years. A good start in practical efficiency will be made, however, if the new budget bill goes through as it is expected to do. The public then will endure the present tax burden a little more cheerfully, in the prospect of seeing some approximation to real business efficiency attained at Washington in the near future.

STANDARDIZED FARM MACHINERY

One of the great demands of the present day is for standardized and tested farm machinery, according to J. B. Davidson, secretary of the American Society of Agricultural Engineers which has just concluded a session in Chicago.

Manufacturers have been quick to see the opening field in farm machinery, and each one is eager to get something new and different, says Mr. Davidson. So every variety of mechanism is made, from a garden hoe to a caterpillar tractor. The farmer who goes to purchase finds himself sadly puzzled, and is sometimes badly disappointed after he has made a purchase.

In some of the states farm machinery has to be submitted to tests by accredited farm bureaus before it is permitted to go on sale. This helps to clear the situation, to protect the farmer and also the dealer who has a good machine.

There is little doubt as to the desirability of standardization for farm machinery, but this is a matter which will take care of itself in time. What is good in one machine will be demanded in another, and presently incorporated in it, as has been done so largely with the automobile. Manufacturers, however, might easily hasten the process.

If this violent reaction against the crime wave continues, pretty soon a hard-working crook won't be able to make a living.

AMUSEMENTS

"MOTHERS OF MEN"

A Strong Dramatic Photoplay Shown How Prayers of Mothers of the World Helped Their Sons

How the prayers of the mothers of the world, succored their sons in an hour of peril, is the basic theme of "Mothers of Men," a strong, dramatic photoplay which is playing at the Lyceum today only.

Claire Whitney plays the role of Marie, a young girl, who is left penniless after being educated in a convent, and who is forced to accept the attentions of a man of high social position to her undoing. In later years when she is happily married, the man again enters her life, and attempts to force her to betray secrets that will injure those she loves under the penalty of telling her story to her husband.

Jack Dempsey will be seen Saturday at the Lyceum in the second episode of "Dare Devil Jack", the million dollar Pathé serial. William Russell will appear on the same day in "The Man Who Dared" a great story of the northwest mounted police. A comedy and the Pathé News completes the program for Saturday.

"HUMORESQUE"

Plot of the Photoplay in Which Alma Rubens Stars at the New Park Theatre

"Humoresque," a picture altogether unusual, is shown at the New Park Theatre this Friday and Saturday. It features Alma Rubens, who plays the part of Gina Berg.

A son that somehow catches all of life's laughter and pathos into its magic note's—that's Dvorak's famous "Humoresque." When Fannie Hurst wrote her novel of the Ghetto genius who became a celebrated violinist, she succeeded in accomplishing much that Dvorak did. Here is the plot of the play:

"The Kantors are a poor Jewish family living on the lower East Side of New York City. The household consists of Abraham Kantor, his wife and eight children. It is the seventh birthday of Leon, one of the children, and his father plans to take him to a toy shop and buy him a present. Seeking his son, who is playing in the street, Abraham arrives in time to disperse a group of urchins attacking Leon and his playmate, Minnie Ginsberg. The latter two are resisting the efforts of their attackers to take away from them a dead cat, which they found in a neighboring ash can.

Mr. Kantor leads his son away to a toy shop. Leon promptly loses his heart to a violin, which is marked $4. Abraham had counted on spending only a dollar. But Leon will accept nothing but the fiddle and so loud become his cries when his father will not buy it that Mr. Kantor jerks him away from the shop.

When he tells Mama Kantor the story of Leon's actions, she bursts into sobs of thanksgiving. Her dream of having a son with a soul for music has been realized. Leon will be a great musician. So, when the rest of the family is at the birthday dinner, she steals out and buys the fiddle for Leon.

Fifteen years later Leon, is a recognized genius all over the world. He has played before eager audiences both in Europe and America. Abroad he has met Gina Ginsberg again, and she is a beautiful woman. Their child-love blossoms into the love of the man for the woman.

Leon returns to New York and gives a concert in New York's biggest theatre at popular prices—for his own people. The whole East Side turns out for the performance and Leon is given a huge ovation. It is just at the time of America's entrance into the war. The excited manager of the theatre offers Leon an engagement of fifty nights at $2,000 a performance. But Leon shows him his enlistment card. He is a soldier now.

He parts tenderly with his mother and with Gina. Overseas he is wounded severely in the left shoulder. When he is once more in New York, in the hospital, the army doctor tells him that he will never be able to play the violin again. And the violin is his all. Discharged from the hospital, he sits at home, morose and silent.

Gina comes to him, begging him to marry her. He refuses and brushes her from him roughly—so roughly that she faints in the doorway. Leon rushes forward and takes her in his arms. His father and mother hurry in. While they are bringing Gina to, he suddenly become conscious that he has used his supposedly useless left arm. Perhaps he can play again. He timidly takes his violin and, while his loved ones listen anxiously, plays "Humoresque" with the touch of a master.

The Liniment that Never Fails

Unless Liniment accomplishes its full required purpose of what value is that Liniment? Aches and pains located near the skin surface may be easily reached with almost any good penetrating rub, but for the deep seated pains in the bones, in the joints, in the back, in the chest, it takes a powerful liniment indeed to reach the seat of trouble, remove the cause, and thus ease the distress. We offer a liniment of unusual penetrating power, and of extreme value in the relief of all aches and pains no matter where located.

The Rub that Kills the Pain

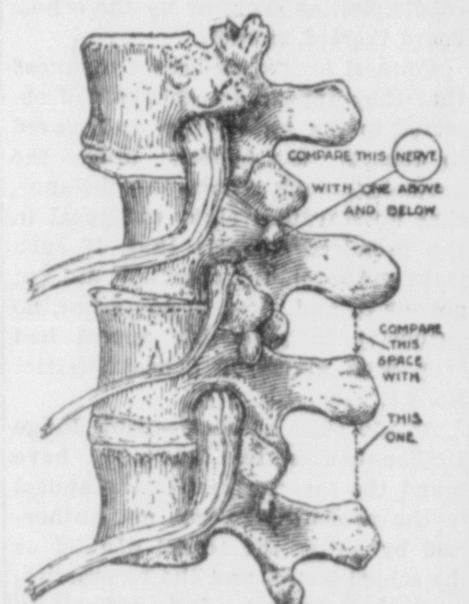

Chiropractic For Bronchitis

At this time of the year hundreds of people are troubled with bronchitis, either in a chronic or acute form. When the Chiropractor is called in, he, by means of nerve tracing, a mode of physical examination used by Chiropractors only, traces a tenderness from the place of impingement (pinching) at the spine to the region over the bronchial tubes. This assists him in locating the exact cause of the disease. When this is adjusted and the pinching relieved, the result is health and normal function of respiratory organs. Numerous cases of bronchitis have completely recovered under Chiropractic Vertebral Adjustments, while chronic cases will require a longer time, depending on the severity of the case, the length of its standing, and the responsiveness of the patient's vitality.

LAYOFF IN SHOPS REDUCES FORCE

200 Men Out of 1315 Employed in Mechanical Departments of Railway Shops Laid Off

FOUNDRY HAS NO REDUCTION
Layoff at Present Does Not Affect the Store Department of the Railway Shops

A layoff of approximately 200 men has taken place at the Northern Pacific railway shops. The present force employed in the mechanical departments is about 1315. The layoff, as far as known, has not affected the store department.

The foundry of the Parker & Topping Co., which operates independently of the shops, has recorded no reduction of forces.

The shop layoff has been divided among the different crafts on a natural average aimed to keep the working force left evenly balanced. It is not believed the layoff will be for an extended period.

As matters stand, railways of the northwest have been favored by exceptionally fine weather, permitting the hauling of tonnage almost equal to summer standards. At the same time there have been no blizzards or deep snow.

Two feet of snow on the ground and a blizzard would soon run out the rolling stock and speed up shop work.

FAVORS INCREASE OF RAILWAY TAXES

Senator Hilding A. Swanson Favors Apportioning Additional Revenue to Counties

HAVING RAILWAY PROPERTY
May Also Affect Telephone, Express and Sleeping Car Companies as Advocated by Him

Increase in Minnesota railroad taxes and possibly those of telephone, express and sleeping car companies will be advocated during the present session of the state legislature, by Senator Hilding A. Swanson of Brainerd, according to his announcement late yesterday.

Senator Swanson proposes an increase of the current 5 per cent Minnesota tax on railroad gross earnings to 6 or 7 per cent and to apportion the additional revenue produced among the counties and cities in which the taxed property is located. He has collected the laws of other states on railroad taxation and is having a bill drawn to revise the Minnesota statute on the subject. His plans relating to taxation of gross earnings of telephone, express and sleeping car and freight line companies are less definite.

"About half of the property in Brainerd is used for railroad purposes and therefore is exempt from local taxation, save under the recent authorization for levying assessments for local improvements," said Senator Swanson. "In Proctor about 90 per cent of property is used by railroads, and in Two Harbors and Staples the percentages are large. The bill will be for the benefit of these and other cities and towns."

The senator two years ago offered a bill providing for distribution of part of gross earnings tax revenues among cities and towns deprived of revenue from that source by the state law and one of the main objections was against disturbing the fund. This will be overcome, he expects, by the proposal to raise railroad taxes when all others are on the increase.

PERSONAL TAXES ARE DUE AGAIN

Become Payable January 1 at Office of County Treasurer. Must be Paid Before Feb. 28

REAL ESTATE TAXES DUE TOO
First Half Must be Paid on or Before Last Day of May to Avoid 10 Per Cent Penalty

With the advent of the new year, taxes become due again. Personal property taxes are the first to be paid, and the complete list will soon be compiled and published by papers of Crow Wing county. Personal property taxes must be paid on or before February 28. On March 1 a penalty attaches on all delinquent personal property taxes and after a time the sheriff attends to their collection.

Real estate taxes are also due on January 1, but property owners have until on or before the last day of May to pay the first half. June 1 a 10 per cent penalty attaches on delinquent taxes. The second half must be paid on or before the last day of October.

Taxes of 1920 payable in 1921 in Brainerd are listed at 77.29 mills. A year ago they were 77.80 mills. This is apportioned as follows:

State 5.42 mills
County 16.83 mills
City schools 31.40 mills
City Brainerd 23.55 mills

Total 77.29 mills

AT EVERETT HIGH

E. T. Kosbab, Brainerd Student There, Refers to Everett Game With Cleveland Tech.

E. T. Kosbab of Everett, Wash., in a letter to the Dispatch writes: "Owing to the fact that Brainerd high has turned out many good football teams, it might be of interest to them to know the calibre of teams which the west turns out", and he referred to the game between Everett high and Cleveland, Ohio, Tech, which decided the championship of high schools of the United States.

"Everett won the championship of the west by defeating Long Beach, Calif., Dec. 17 which entitled it to contend for national championship honors. Everett defeated Cleveland Tech, 16 to 7. The score was an exact indication of the strength of the two teams, and owing to the fact that Cleveland Tech. offers a six year course and Everett high only four, Everett has even more credit due than is indicated by mere figures.

"This year Everett high has among its scholars one or two last year Brainerd high students. I am also a former Brainerd high student."

"Whereas, it has come to the attention of the county board that our state legislators are considering provisions by which Amendment No. 1, the New Trunk Highway Law of Minnesota, is to be carried out.

"And, Whereas, there appears to be some question as to what kind of organization should be put in charge of the work,

"And, Whereas, it appears appropriate for the county boards to make suggestions bearing on this matter,

"Be It Therefore Resolved, that the county board of Crow Wing County, Minnesota, in session this 4th day of January, 1921, suggest to the legislators, that in its opinion the most effective system of administration would be through a single paid Highway Commissioner, and it is further suggested that M. C. M. Babcock, the present highway commissioner be given full charge of the new and additional work of the trunk highway system.

"Be It Further Resolved, that this resolution be spread upon the minutes and copies thereof be forwarded to the Governor and both houses of legislature".

At the invitation of the Mothers club of Trommald Mrs. W. H. Gemmell spoke before that organization Friday afternoon on the subject of child welfare and the work of the County Child Welfare Board.

Chairs of Historic Interest.

There is still kept in the museum at Dorchester, England, the judge's chair—a very substantial article—used by Jeffries at the assize at which he tried the Monmouth rebels after Sedgemoor, in 1683; and in Moreton-in-the-Marsh may be seen the elaborately upholstered chair and footstool used by Charles I at his trial. They are kept in a glass case.

When high heels were introduced in Venice they were highly decorated. The height of the heels proclaimed the rank of the men and women wearing them.

AMERICAN LEGION MEETING TONIGHT

Election of Officers Up—Gene White Has Many Friends Who Desire Him for Commander

A. GIERIET VICE-COMMANDER
Change in Bylaws Suggested to Increase Executive Committee from Seven to Fifteen

A regular meeting of the American Legion will be held tonight at the election of officers and executive committee for the coming year, and for Legion hall in the Koop block for the consideration of other matters which may properly come before the meeting. A number of candidates have been mentioned as possible choice for Commander. Gene White seems to be the most likely candidate at this time. A great number of the Legion men want to see Gene the leader of the post as he has the ability to "put things over". Andy Gieriet is prominently mentioned in connection with Vice Commander. Various candidates are mentioned for adjutant and treasurer. Rev. Ferd Errington will succeed himself as Chaplain. A Post historian will be elected tonight and will at once begin to compile a history of each individual member of the post.

Probably one of the most important things to come before the meeting tonight will be a suggested change in the by-laws of the local post to increase the number of the

PLACE THAT NEEDS MIGHTY GOOD MAN

SECRETARY TO THE PRESIDENT
MUST LIVE UP TO A HIGH
MARK OF TRADITION.

HARDING'S CHOICE UNKNOWN

Recollections of William Loeb, Jr.,
Fred Carpenter, Charles D. Hilles and Others—Tumulty to Practice Law When Wilson Steps Out.
By EDWARD B. CLARK.

Washington. — President-elect Harding has not yet named definitely the man who is to be his secretary when he takes possession of the White House in March. Gossip has it that either George Christian, the senator's present private secretary, or Richard Washburn Child, the writer, who was at Marion most of the past summer, will be tendered the important post.

Of course, Senator Harding may decide on somebody else. Whoever it is that comes to the White House as secretary to the President, in order to retain his popularity and his usefulness, will be obliged to live up to a high mark of tradition. There have been some mighty efficient secretaries to hold sway—sway is really the right word—in the offices of the White House during the administrations that have passed.

The memories of a few Washington correspondents go back to the days of "Lige" Halford, who was secretary under McKinley, and of George B. Cortelyou, secretary under the same President and for an exceedingly short time associated in the White House with the Roosevelt administration.

Loeb Was More Than Secretary.
President Roosevelt appointed William Loeb, Jr., whom he had known in Albany while he was governor of New York, as his secretary, and Loeb held office through the first and second administrations of Roosevelt. Loeb was something more than the President's secretary. He was the friend and confidant of Theodore Roosevelt. Moreover, he was allowed to speak for the President in many matters of moment. In other words, if newspaper correspondents or senators or representatives went to Loeb to find out something, and it was impossible to reach the President to get the answer, Loeb almost always would take it upon himself to say what was necessary.

Mr. Loeb frequently was the spokesman for Theodore Roosevelt, being able as he was, through association in conferences, to know almost invariably just how the President felt on all kinds of subjects, and also to know definitely enough whether or not he was justified in speaking. Today Loeb is connected with the welfare department of the great American Smelting and Refining company.

When President Taft came into office he brought to the White House with him as his secretary Fred Warner Carpenter, a young man who had been his private secretary when he was secretary of war. Very soon after he entered the White House Mr. Warner was appointed minister to Morocco, and he sailed for his African post. He was succeeded by Charles D. Norton of New York, and about a year thereafter Mr. Norton was succeeded by Charles D. Hilles, also of New York.

Mr. Norton is now a vice president of a New York city bank and Mr. Hilles is connected with a great insurance company in an executive capacity. Hilles, by the way, has been mentioned as a possibility for a cabinet position under the incoming administration. He is the Republican national committeeman from the state of New York and was exceedingly active in the last political campaign.

Tumulty Will Practice Law.
Woodrow Wilson's secretary is Joseph P. Tumulty, who had served in a like capacity for Mr. Wilson prior to his coming to the White House. Mr. Tumulty came to Washington with the President, and in all human probability will leave it with him. The relation between Woodrow Wilson and Tumulty is close and companionable.

The President not long ago told his secretary that he would appoint him to the position of judge of the United States customs court of appeals if he desired the place. Mr. Tumulty declined the honor and will practice law in Washington when Mr. Wilson becomes an ex-President of the United States.

It cannot be said that the position of secretary to the President is one that is sought for. No man seeks it, because it is a place which cannot be asked for, but which must be given to a man whom the President knows intimately, for whom he feels profound respect and in whose judgment he has every confidence. The secretary to the President can come about as near to undoing the President as it is possible to be a President of the United States to be undone.

The secretary must be congenial, tactful and firm or yielding as the occasion demands. He has a hundred potential critics every day. He must know the status of every person who calls at the White House, must know what he or she wants and whether or not the errand of the visitor is of sufficient importance to require that the President should be seen personally by the caller. Everybody who goes to the White House wants to see the President, and therefore it is easy enough to see how tactful a secretary must be when it is necessary that he shall turn the visitor away with his wish ungratified.

MAN'S CRUELTY TO ANIMALS

Writer Denounces the "Life Imprisonment" Which Confinement in Zoological Garden Means.

"Purely as a matter of ethics, abolition is the ultimate logic of all zoological gardens." Such is the opinion of a writer in the Nation of London. "Animals have committed no crimes against the community," he says, "and therefore the community has no right whatever to give them life sentences of imprisonment." A very few of the larger animals, he admits, may affect human life injuriously, but they form an infinitesimal portion of the inhabitants of a zoological garden. On the other hand, it is argued that we never thought of confining those animals believed to be the most injurious, namely insects—and therefore it is plain that "the punishment does not fit the crime."

Even if it were granted that animals are happier in captivity than in their native wilds, this can only be meant relatively, for though protected and cared for, animals in captivity are denied the primal joys of liberty and fitness to environment, among such joys being their power of exercising their suppleness of body or strength of wing in graceful movements, and not least of all joys, the power of satisfying their continual curiosity.

Much has been done for animals, and much more might be done for the wild birds. For the eagles, hawks, condors and vultures the writer feels that nothing can be done. He quotes from that great lover of birds, W. W. Hudson, to whom the sight of any bird in a cage, be it robin, redbreast or bird unknown to William Blake, literally sets him in a rage. He has somewhere described a sermon he heard on genius, in which the preacher likened the life of the ordinary person to that of the canary in its cage. But of the genius—"A cloud came over his (the preacher's) majestic features, he drew himself up and swayed his body from side to side, and shook his black gown and lifted his arms as a great bird lifts its plumed homologues, and let them fall again two or three times, and then said in deep measured tones which seemed to express rage and despair—'But did you ever see the eagle in his cage?'"

The brooding hopeless gaze of those stern eyes offers only one solution to the avian problem, the keys of the city of the air.

Every Man to His Trade.

A devoted couple, married a short time ago, took up their abode in a dainty cottage in a suburban quarter. Everything in the house was the latest and gave unalloyed satisfaction. But one evening when the husband returned he found, to his disgust, that a water pipe had burst. The rooms were flooded and the carpets, which were the husband's special pride, were in danger of being spoiled.

"Well, well," said he impatiently to his wife, "why on earth didn't you hammer the pipe up? Here, give me a hammer and I'll do it in a twinkling."

He got the hammer and pounded away at a pipe down in the cellar. When he had finished he paused to examine the result of his labor. Then, to his complete chagrin, he heard the sweetly chiding voice of his wife at the top of the stairs.

"Howard!" said she, "the gas has gone out, and the water is still running." Then he sent for a plumber.—Answers.

Unfortunate Apology.

A certain editor of a country newspaper in Kansas was asked to leave the community as the result of a typographical error in his report of the wedding of the mayor's daughter, relates Pop. After exhausting his supply of large words about the "blushing bride," he had said: "The large elaborate bouquets of roses were pink."

The mayor demanded a correction and apology in the next week's issue, all of which the editor was glad to promise. The next issue contained:

"We wish to apologize for the manner in which we disgraced the beautiful wedding last week. Through an error of the typesetter we were made to say 'the roses were pink.' What we wanted to say was 'the roses were pink.'"—Philadelphia Bulletin.

Long Thumb—Strong Will.

If the top joint of your thumb is long, it shows that you have good will power. Well-developed reasoning faculties are possessed by those people who have thumbs the second joints of which are long. Thumbs that work easily are owned by careless, happy-go-lucky, spendthrift individuals. A stiff, firm-jointed thumb, however, shows that the person is keen, tactful, self-possessed, and cautious—the sort of man who will get on in the world.
